Alton Packard's song, "The Music of The Band," has been sung by him on the stage for five years, and is still one of his most popular hits. It is one of the popular songs that does not grow old, Packard is said to have been of fered $2000 for publishing rights of this song, and refused the offer, preferring: to reserve it for his own use and the pleasure of his audiences. He will be at the Court-house next Saturday night,

TWENTY-ONE YEARS.

Peter Duncan, who killed David Mann, in Russell county, about four months ago, was tried in the Russell circuit court at Jamestown last week, the jury giving him twenty-one years in the penitentiary. Duncan is quite an old man, perhaps sixty-five or sixty-eight years of age.

The particulars of the killing, as we remember, are about as follows: Duncan and Mann had not been on good terms for some time, and had quarreled the evening before, and at the very time Mann was killed his wife was in Jamestown to swear out a peace warrant against Duncan. At the time Mann was killed he was in a corn field at work Duncan came along, gun in hand, shot and killed him without warning. Mann made no effort to escape, neither did he deny the killing, but meeting a neighbor, he told him to go over in the field and lobt after Mann, that he had shot him.

MARRIED IN ILLINOIS.

Is William J. Bryan, the Great Nebraskan, In the Success of the Democratic Party In Kentucky This Year.

Says Campaign In This State Has an Important Bearing Upon the Success of Principles In Which He Is Interested.

Influence on National Politics of a Victory In State of Kentucky Cannot Be Ignored by Voters.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17.—Addressing 60,000 persons, gathered at sixteen cities and towns in western and southwestern Kentucky, William J. Bryan, the greatest living exponent of the principles of Democracy, urged upon his hearers and all other patriotic Kentuckians that they go to the polls on election day, Tuesday, Nov. 5 next, and cast their votes in support of the splendid state ticket headed by Judge S. W. Hager, Democratic port of the splendid state ticket headed by Judge S. W. Hager, Democratic candidate for governor, and for legislative candidates who will, in the general assembly of 1908, cast their votes for Governor J. C. W. Beckham for a seat in the senate of the United States as the successor of Senator McCreary.

McCreary.

Mr. Bryan's speeches were devoted largely to a discussion of national issues, but in presenting the views which he holds, and which are dear to hundreds of thousands of Democrats the country over, he dwelt at coastderable length upon the influence which a Democratic victory in the

of Kentucky this year will have state of Kentucky this year will have on national politics. He declared it would be an influence that Democrats cannot ignore, as it would be heralded as the first gun to be fired in the celebration of a great national victory. In presenting Democratic doctrines and urging Democrate doctrines and urging Democrate of Kentucky to rally to the support of the state candidates of the party, Mr. Bryan spoke as follows:

state candidates of the party, Mr. Bryan spoke as follows:

I am down in your campaign this year because I believe that it has an important bearing upon the success of the principles in which I feel deeply interested. I know the men who have been nominated for several of your offices, and I am interested in them, but I am interested even more in the principles for which they stand. I am interested in attending the principles for which they stand. I am interested in national politics, as state politics has its influence upon national politics, and I want to give you two reasons why! believe that explicit his yes are about the out of the principles for which they stand to the principles of the principles of borne only so far as is necessary for the support of the government. Whereas the Ropablication of the government of the support of the government of the support of the government of the support of a century taught the docurine that taxation is a blessing, and if poople have a hard time all you have to do is to increase their taxes in order to lighten their burden and increase their blessings. It is natural that those who believe that taxation is a necessary evil should limit it and restrict it as much as possible, and it is perfectly natural that those who in national politics teach that a tariff is a blessing to the people should give them as much of this blessing as possible when they have a considerable of the support of the sup istration under Democrats with the administration of states which are under Republican rule.

But, my friends, the influence that your election will have on national politics, is an influence, that Democrats cannot ignore. If your state were to cast its vote for the Republican party you would find that all over the nation it would be heralded as the beginning of Republican victory in the nation; while if in your state you do as they did in Oklahoma, it will be heralded as the beginning of Republican victory in the nation; while if in your state you do as they did in Oklahoma they first good to be fired in the celebration of a great national victory.

Out in Oklahoma they rolled up a majority of nearly 100,000 in favor of a constitution written by a constitutional convention that was nine-tenths Democratic. Nine-tenths is a pretty good ratio, and we cannot ask much me to the control of the state of of the Republicans, and the victory in Oklahoma they us not only that indication of the trend of public sentiment, but it gives us not only that indication of the trend of public sentiment, but it gives us not only that indication of the trend of public sentiment, but it gives us not only that indication of the trend of public sentiment, but it gives us not only that indication of the trend of public sentiment, but it gives us not only that indication of the trend of public sentiment, but it gives us not only that indication of the trend of public sentiment, but it gives us not only that indication of the trend of public sentiment, but it gives us not only that indication of the trend of public sentiment, but it gives us not only that indication of the trend of public sentiment, but it gives us not only that indication of the trend of public sentiment, but it gives us not only that indication of the trend of public sentiment, and by y and two years into the administration succeeds it.

We need Democratic senators in the next administration, for the United States senate is the weak point today in this government. They have so many representatives there of corporate wealth that we need in the United States senate Democrats to the core, who, like Governor Beckham, will stand for the rights of the people, and though I live in Nebraska, I am interested in the senator elected from Kentucky, for before we can 'secure any remedial relief in any direction of a national character it must pass through the United States senate.

No relief of a national character needed by the people of Nebraska can be secured until it goes through the senate, and therefore the farms of my state are interested, like the people of your state, in having senators there who will listen to the voice of the cominon people and not receive their instructions from the great trusts and the railroad systems of the cominon people and not receive their instructions from the great trusts and the railroad systems of the cominon people and not receive their instructions from the great trusts and the railroad systems of the cominon people and now, my friends, let me give you some reasons why Democrats should take courage at the situation which now presents itself. I think that no one in this country has enjoyed hims's finore that I have during the last two years. For now come the part of the proper of the p

I happened to be on that he to the sub-committee that helped to be on that he to the sub-committee that he to the sub-committee that he was a such pride as I take in any act in my public career, and I rejoice that now some twelve years after the Democratic party fought for it, a Republican president, comes up and admits that it is a good thing, and were Secretary Taft—admits that it is a good thing, only, yielding to his postpoining habit of mind, he thinks we ought not to have the sub-committee that the sub

If any of you think that the Republicans ever won a victory in the last twelve years, I want to remind you that after twelve years, I want to remind you that after twelve years of complete power, after rather eleven, during which they have had the president, senate and the house, they have never been able to impress the property of the property of racy next year; and if you Democrats who marched to the polls in 1898 and gave me a majority, it doday your love of Democracy is as warm as it was then, make the, majority larger for Hager and his ticket this fall.

And, my friends, the election for senator has a double significance. A victory for Democracy in your state legislature, like a victory for your state ticket, would be an inspiration to Democrats elsewhere, but it would be more than that. It would be more than that. It would send to the United States senate a Democrat, and we need Democrats there. We not only need Democrats there, but we cannot afford to lose any of the Democrats that we have.

Today two Democrats represent

Today two Democratis' represent Kentucky in the United States senate. If the Republicans carried this state, they would send a Republican as successor to Senator McCreary, and, my friends, if a Republican went there in the place of that Democrat, then your state, instead of presenting two votes in favor of reform, would have a Republican senator nullifying the vote of the Democratic senator, and your state would be a cipher on these questions. The senate is today the weak point. We need reform, but no remedial elgislation of a national character is possible until the measure passes the senate as well as the house. You might have a Democratic president may be ready to sign the bill, but if the senate stands between them relief is impossible; and, my friends, i beg you to so cast your votes as to insure a Democratic legislature, for that will insure the election of Governor Beckham to the United States senate.

Now, I have given you my reason for being here. I am interested in national politics. I have been formany, years, and shall be until I de. My great desire is to see these reforms. For which I in company with other Democratis have been fighting, realized, for I believe they will bring blessings untold to the American people, and I come from a distant state to give you what assistance I can, because I am interested in the proposition of the proposition of and liberty and in the pursuit of happiness. That is the richest legacy that father can leave the child. But there is no more reason why I should leave my children good government than that you should leave your children good government; and there is no more reason why I should fight for Democracy than there is that you should fight for Democracy than there is that you should fight for Democracy. My interest is not due to the fact that I have been a candidate for high office. My interest is not due to the fact that I may be a candidate for high office. My interest is not due to the fact that I may be a candidate for high office in the future, for office is but an incident of my life, and there are things which concern me more. I have never wanted office merely to hold office, for I have long since learned that my place in history, will not be determined by what people do for me, but by what I can do for my people.

I have said this much because I wanted to impress upon your minds that you ought to be as much interested as I am in this fight, and now, Democrats, if I will come from Nebraska at my own expense to help you win a victory in Kentucky for Democracy, can't you go from your homes to your polls on election day and do your part toward winning that victory? What excuse can you give your conscience or your neighbors if on election day you remain away from the polls?

What excuse can you give to your conscience or your neighbors if on election day you regular out and is my life to down that you can't list into tworth your while to vote, yourselves, and then do what you can't list into tworth your while to you do not get your neighbors to join with you to make your majority larger now than ever before?

I understand that you have so be an apportiry down here that when you get up in the morning and then bears that the country has gone Republican of the country house gone Republican of the country count go Republican as there are so many Democratic in at it may seem, there are many period to the country, and the political intelligence that you show on election day, and these political intelligence that you show on election day, and these political intelligence that you show on election day, and these political intelligence that you show on election day, and these political intelligence that you show on election day, and these political intelligence that you show on election day, and these political intelligence that you show on election day, and these political intelligence that you show on election day, and these political intelligence that you have not been within the political intelligence that you have not been within the political intelligence that you have not been within the fold off the cloth of the political intelligence that gone the gone of the political intelligence that you not not any more than an and the provided the political intelligence that gone the provided that you have not end to the provided that you have not end to the provided that you have not been within the fold off the cloth of the provided that you have not been any them the first come that you have not the provided that the paper, and I read it, but you have not the provided that the paper and I read it, but you have not the provided that the paper and I read it, but you have not the provided that the paper and I read it, but you have not the provided that the paper that Gorwand the provided that the paper and the provided t

Reports from Washington has twenty years after the for over twenty years are the the postain, speakers close of the Civil war the pension renown discussing topics roll of the old soldiers increased are now occupying the nannually millions of dollars. Then ne the Spanish-American War which added a good many names to the list. The list is now on the decrease at the rate of several from Columbia, have waged monmillions annually. The last fiscal 000 and the amount of the appropriation for the present year is $22,000,000 less than that for 1893, when it reached the top notch. In ten years more the present pension roll will be cut in half. The vast majority of them are old Very few are under sixty years old. The majority of them are seventy or over and the death ong them is increasing wonder-In ten years the. G. A. R. will not be able to have a parade, as the remnant of the old soldiers will be too infirm to march. In twenty years there will only be lonely survivors of that struggle that shook the orld.

A considerable flurry was created here last week, a report having reached the populace that Mr. Perryman, the Republican candidate for the Legislature, had failed to file his certificate with County Court Clerk, T. R. Stults, in time to have his name printed upon the ballots in Adair An investigation county. and the certificate made, and the certificate was found in the possession of Mr. W. A. Coffey, who is a deputy County Court Clerk, but not marked filed. The Republicans claim that the certificate being in the possession of said deputy marked filed. The Republicans claim that the certificate being in the possession of said deputy Perryman's name off the ballot clerk makes it good. The Democrats claim that it is not good. The the name of Mr. Perryman was sent to the printer, and as we are informed, will be printed to stoop to such political tactics upon the ballots for Adair county. Those who are informed upon the the Adair County Mews. law in such cases can form their own conclusion.

The dog law seems to be an to some Republicans They are reminded that Dr. L. C. Nell, the Senator of this district, thought it a good law and voted for it, as did quite a number of other Republican Senators and Representatives. They are also reminded that there are quite a number of Republican States with a dog law upon their statutes, and no provisions made to pay farmers for sheep killed, on the the tax being two dollars dog, while in Kentucky it is only one dollar on the dog and a pro-vision made to pay farmers for sheep killed.

With this issue The News makes it's last say before the election. For several weeks we have been urging the Democrats to let nothing but serious sickness keep them from the polls. It is necessary for every Democrat in the county to vote in order to reduce the Republican ma-jority in Adair. Do not conclude that the Democratic ticket is safe and remain away from the tion. The Republican majority is three hundred in this county. It can be cut down if the Dem-ocrats do their duty—every man of the party voting. A gain in Adair county would be a gain for the State ticket.

No Governor in the United State has a better record than J. C. W. Beckham. His administration has been economical, and when he turns his office over to another person his successor will find the State out of debt and all the public institutions in fine condition.

Willson stated in a speech, a few days ago, that Hager had a man traveling with him who carried a suit case of whisky, and

HON. C. C. McCHORD

His Re-election Is Earnestly Desired by Business Men and Shippers of Kentucky-His Splendid Record.

In view of the importance to all the people of the office of Railroad Commissioner, attention is called to the opposition recently put forth against Hon. C. C. McChord by the petition candidate, Mr. Lew Tarlton. The democratic party nominated Mr. McChord some months ago; thereafter, the executive committee of the republican party met and refused to give him opposition. Nevertheless, on the evening of the very last day on which it could be done, Mr. Lew Tarlton, in disregard of the wishes of his party, as evidenced by the action of its executive committee, filed a petition with the secretary of state and has forced his name upon the ballot as the republican candidate for Railroad Commissioner.

From the following comments from republican as well as democratic sources, it seems that Mr. Tarlton's effort to thus obtain an office will undoubtedly fail:

From the following comments from republican as well as democratics sources, it seems that Mr. Tarlton's effort to thus obtain an office will undoubtedly fail:

Regardless of political affiliation, business men of Louisville and Kentucky have indorsed the candidacy of Mr. C. C. McChord, and it is not believed in view of this fact, that he would have opposition for re-election. His services as chairman of the Kentucky Ralironad Commission were recognized as being most valuable by the business men of the state, and they are dealers of the state of the state of the state of the state. The state of the most valuable services that Mr. McChord has rendered the business interests of Kentucky is his fight to compel the railroads to reduce the freight rates in Kentucky 25 per cent. If this is done Mr. McChord says that Louisville will then be placed on an equal footing with Cincinnation of the state of the state

FROM THE LOUISVILLE HERALD (REPUBLICAN).

Charles C. McChord was elected Railroad Commissioner ten years ago and was endorsed the republicans of the state. He has been a valiant champion of the state of the state

C. C. McChord, chairman of the Kentucky Railroad Commission, was elected president of the National Association of Railroad Commissioners in Washington, D. C. The honor came to Mr. McChord unanimosity. While a large majority of the 125 delegates to the convention are republicans, there was not a dissenting voice to his election.

Considerable surprise was manifested among the delegates over the fact that Mr. McChord has opposition for reelection in Kentucky. He has proved such an all-around, capable officer, his election to the presidency of the two controls of the control of the providence of the control of the presidency of the control of the control of the presidency of the control of the control of the presidency of the control of the control of the presidency of the control of the control of the presidency of the control of the control of the presidency of the control of the control of the presidency of the control of the control of the presidency of the control of the control of the presidency of the control of the control of the presidency of the presidency of the control of the presidency of the pr

FROM THE NEWS LEADER (REPUBLICAN).

While the News Leader is republican in politics, yet it never hesitates to call attention to and to commend the work of a public official when it deserves commendation.

We do not believe the people of Rentucky have the slightest idea of defeating Hon. C. C. McChord for Railroad Commissioner. Although he is the democratic nominee, the regular governing authority of the republican party, namely, its executive committee, some weeks ago refused to make a nomination against. him, thereby virtually endorsing his candidacy, he has times the properties of the committee of the commit

RESOLUTIONS ADDITED BY THE SOWLING GREEN BUSINESS MEN'S PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

RESOLUTED: By the owning directly association. FIRST: That we recognize the fact that the proper regulation of rail-road rates is now the most important question before the people of Kentucky, as well as the people of the United States at large.

SECOND: That the Bowling Green Business Men's Protective Association recognizes in the Hon. C. C. McChord a faithful, intelligent, efficient and honest public official, who has given great care and study to "railroad regulation," and who has the courage to be just to the shippers and at the same time just to the railroads, reclaive the same care of the people of Kentucky in his present position and believe that if he is permitted to continue in such position the good aiready accomplished is but a foretaste of the benefits of a Railroad Commission, which is not content to be a mere sinecure, but which undertakes to faithfully execute the duties required by law;

FOURTH: We feel that the people of Kentucky could ill afford to lose the services of so able an expert as the Hon. C. C. McChord, just at this time when the question of the regulation of railroad freight trates is on trial and the vecole of his district are, therefore, urged to stand loyally by him [2.15] facts. For peablecters.

RESOLUTIONS ADDPTED BY THE LUMBER DEALERS OF KENTUCKY. WHEREAS, the Hon. C. C. McChord has rendered signal service to the shippers of this state during his entire career as Railroad Commissioner, now therefore, be it RESOLVED by the Louisville Lumbermen's Club of Kentucky: FIRST: That we recognize in the Hon. C. C. McChord a faithful, untirg and incorruptible public official who by years of intelligent work and study has equipped himself to be, and now is one of the ablest railroad commissioners in the United States with the ability and courage to do justice to both-shipper and carrier;

And now a few words to the voter. As it is only a few days residence, until election it is high time to be considering the political status of the time. If you want to have your tax rate raised; if you want the militia called out to intimidate voters; if you want honest men shot down while peacefully performing their duties, and the assassins protected by executive clemency; if you want the legis lature and the highest court of the state driven from the state capital by a lawless mob; if you capital by a lawless molt; if you position with a company in West want outside capital driven from Virginia. were cut short by not getting rain in the early summer. Farmers haul off a bale of cotten and get $65 for it; corn sells at 45 cents a bushel which is a good price. This is a fine country for a poor man—wages good. The farmers wives can sell produce for good prices, eggs are 20 cts., per dozen; ripe tomatoes sell for and 4 cents per pound. No fruithere yet, to amount to anything. Some had a good crop of peaches, while others had none.
